About me

My name is Luca Chiandoni, and I am a freelance photographer based in northern Italy, available for national and international collaborations.

In the dynamic world of events, capturing the essence and energy of each moment is essential to communicate the atmosphere of an experience to the audience.

Through my photographic style, I try to prioritize genuine emotions over staged poses; I like to be as discreet as possible, capturing big moments and intimate details.

The goal for every collaboration is to deliver authentic and coherent collections of images that can be transformed into effective tools for communication and promotion.

I love working in teams, adapting my workflow to the operational needs of press offices and social media teams.

Services

I mainly work for reportage of cultural, music and cinematic events and festivals.

Another important area of specialization is for Corporate events, trade fairs and industry workshops, supporting the development of small businesses communication.
